ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This book would not have been possible without the hard work and innovative ideas of many people. The theme of the book emerged from discussion within the faculty floor of the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies. Like most edited volumes, the book relies on the volunteer work of its authors. The editor received numerous useful insights from Mike Burgoyne and Scott McDonald, the editors of the most recent DKI APCSS book, China’s Global Influence. The authors worked closely with the editor, Dean Carleton Cramer of the College of Security Studies, and Mary Markovinovic to enhance the quality of their chapters. Mary was also the chief producer of the book, with all the troubles—and joy—of this job. Tami Rosado did the meticulous work of copyediting. Our interns Joshua Turner helped with copyediting, proofreading, and indexing; Elizhe Basim and Cidney Hopkins with indexing and proofreading; and Mahogany Rasmussen with copyediting. The front and back covers of the book are the creative work of Nelson Gaspar and Debra Castro. Associate Dean Gene Richards, Darren Adams, Toni Difante, Debbie Fikac, Flo Rapozo, Armenio Salaguinto, and Robin Taylor supported in various capacities. The idea of a publication for the 25th anniversary of DKI APCSS was born three years before this book. It was Director Pete Gumataotao who turned it into a reality.
